

Second announcement

(January 2017)

The Free University of Bolzano-Bozen wishes to remind you the

VIII ISHS Symposium on Mineral Nutrition of Fruit Crops

27th - 30th June 2017, Bolzano – Italy

co-organized by the Italian Society of Horticultural Science (SOI).

The abstract submission deadline has been postponed until February 14th, 2017!! Do not miss the opportunity to send your contribution to our symposium.

Please note that the submission to the revoked conference in Antalya, Turkey, is not valid anymore and therefore all contributions have to be resubmitted. Please visit our website mnutrition2017.events.unibz.it for all details and direct link to the submission system.

The preliminary program will be published shortly. However, we are glad to announce the following keynote speakers:

Lailiang Cheng (Cornell University, USA) – Nitrogen-carbon interactions in apple trees

Arnon Dag (Agricultural Research Organization, Israel) – Olive fertilization requirements under intensive cultivation management

Esmail Fallahi (University of Idaho, USA) – Supplying nutrients through fertigation to optimize yield and maximize quality in tree fruit

Lee Kalcsits (Washington State University, USA) – Novel aspects of Ca nutrition in fruit trees

Tanja Mimmo (Free University of Bolzano-Bozen, Italy) – Nutrient availability in the rhizosphere

Denise Nielsen (Science and Tech. Branch, Agr. and Agri-Food, Canada) – Building resilience: future directions in mineral nutrition of woody perennial crops

Ibrahim Ortas (Cukurova University, Turkey) – Role of mycorrhizae on mineral nutrition of fruit trees (preliminary)

Gerry Neilsen (Canada), Darius Wrona (Poland), David Atkinson (UK) – Andrzej Sadowski Memorial Lecture
